

Worlddidac Quality Charter (WQC) The Ultimate Standard for Quality and Performance in Education

Terms of Participation

Introduction

Worlddidac has established a Quality Charter - hereafter called WQC - to assess and certify companies on their products and performance with regard to the international education business. The goal of the WQC is to assure customers of WQC-certified companies that their suppliers adhere to standards of best practice regarding product quality, after-sales support, corporate governance, educational excellence, innovation, sustainability, responsible use of digital technologies, and long-term stability. WQC certification ensures that multilateral projects maximise their full benefits and that recipient countries and governments can be confident of the sustainability of educational projects.

Accreditation under the WQC will be determined through an eligibility assessment. The organizers of the WQC and the evaluation board are committed to high quality in educational products independent of any commercial interest. Members of the evaluation board are participating in their personal capacity and free of any company affiliations.

1. WQC Certification Process

1.1. Admission/Application

All companies active in the educational field are entitled to apply for accreditation under the WQC as long as they comply with the terms of participation.

Submission of the application form is considered an agreement with the terms of participation. An application can be withdrawn cost-free until 30 days before the starting date of the evaluation board session.

1.2. Self-Assessment

Applicants have to fill in the WQC questionnaire and to submit it together with the compulsory enclosures and additional material related to specific questions. The questionnaire exists in two formats: one for first-time applicants and one for renewals. Both are available for download on the official WQC application page. The questionnaire is subdivided in the following areas:

1. Company Information
2. Business Activity and Turnover
3. Certifications, Ethics, Governance, and Compliance

4. Innovation and Product Development
5. Sales, Marketing, Logistics, and International Projects
6. After-Sales Support and Customer Care
7. Product and Educational Value
8. Product Safety, Sustainability, and Lifecycle
9. References and Case Studies
10. Business Continuity and Workforce Development

1.3. Eligibility Assessment

An international WQC evaluation board assesses the applicants on the basis of their questionnaires and the submitted additional material (copies of certificates, letters of reference, catalogues, brochures, etc.). The evaluation criteria are grouped in the following categories:

1. Commitment to Education, Innovation, and Sustainability
2. International Sales, Marketing, and Logistics
3. After-Sales Support
5. Corporate Governance & Ethical Standards
6. Long-term Stability & Resilience

Each criterion has a maximum number of points a company can receive. In order to pass the evaluation and receive the WQC certification the applicant has to reach a minimum of 40 % of the number of points in each specific criterion and a minimum of 45 % of the total number of points. The WQC evaluation board reserves the right to do a personal audit.

The scoring system is based on best practice benchmarks developed by the WQC evaluation board.

The pass and refer principle is applied.

The WQC evaluation board is solely responsible for their decisions. No legal action may be taken before or after the evaluation takes place.

1.4. Evaluation Report

Evaluation is typically completed within 12 weeks for first applications and 6 weeks for renewals after all documents and payment are received. Applicants are informed about the results shortly after the evaluation board has concluded its session. Companies who did not pass the evaluation receive a report indicating the areas where they do not fulfill the criteria. Worlddidac invites them to take the necessary measures for improvement and apply for a re-evaluation.

1.5. Company Certification

Each company who passes the WQC assessment receives a WQC certificate. Companies are allowed to use the WQC certification in international marketing. The certificates are handed over in a special certification ceremony where the companies are presented to the public.

1.6. Renewal of Certification

The accreditation is valid for three years. In order to keep the certificate valid WQC holders need to apply for a renewal by filling in a questionnaire and paying the renewal fee. They are then assessed again by the evaluation board.

2. Participation Fee

Each applicant is required to pay a fee that will be used to cover Worlddidac's organizational and promotional expenditures. The participation fee also guarantees the financial independence of the WQC.

Participation Fees for companies applying for the first time:

Worlddidac Members:

Platinum Member – CHF 3,600

Gold Member – CHF 4,080

Silver Member – CHF 4,320

Non-members of Worlddidac: CHF 6,320

The accreditation is valid for three years and can be renewed for a renewal fee of CHF 1,800 for Worlddidac members (non-members CHF 2,300). The renewed accreditation is valid for two years.

The application fee must be paid within 14 days after submitting the online application. Invoices are sent automatically upon application submission. The evaluation process will begin only after the payment has been received.
